Wiyot Natural Resources Department Kicks off Integrated Resource Management Plan

The Wiyot Natural Resource Department (WNRD) was awarded a substantial sum of funding (75K) from the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) to draft an Integrated Resource Management Plan (IRMP) for the Table Bluff Reservation (TBR). This will be a major plan for TBR which will function as the Tribe's strategic plan for the comprehensive management of its reservations resources. The IRMP provides a sound basis for the management of reservation resources using the Tribe's vision for the reservation, and ties the natural environment to the Tribe's social values. This is an effort that will require a planning team representative of the spectrum of interests regarding TBR, particularly Wiyot Citizens, TBR residents, Wiyot departmental staff, and input from resource experts, local biologists, neighbors, historians, basket weavers, and elders. Resources at TBR known to be important to Tribal Citizens include both native plants and wildlife, and access for cultural gathering and hunting of food, herbs, basket, and ceremonial materials. Other values tied to the TBR landscape include opportunities for recreation, solitude, and ceremony, like the annual Wiyot Days celebration.

With all of these interests, values, and desired future outcomes for TBR, it is pertinent that this is an integrated and balanced plan, that has input from Wiyot citizens. As first steps to the IRMP process, the WNRD will be reaching out to the Tribal Council, to initiate the “Charge to Plan”, which will specify the intentions of the plan and call together our group of decision makers that will really create the vision for the plan and TBR. We see the envisioning process as an amazing opportunity for Wiyots to set their goals for the desired future condition and state of the Reservation, ensuring that these resources remain for the future generations of Wiyot descendants.

One motto that rings true as you drive into TBR is the sign that reads “Respect the Land”. This embodies what we at the WNRD strive to do everyday in our work. Wiyot Ancestors depended upon a deep respect for the land and its resources for their survival, a reality that should be acknowledged even today, as Humboldt County remains an isolated jewel. The dependence on our highway and road systems and the trucks that ship in our foods and medicines represent a fragile and unsustainable delivery system, one that could be quickly annihilated by a Cascadia event. Wouldn't it be amazing if Table Bluff could one day be traditional food secure, and host our important food and medicinal plants, used over the generations gone by? Maybe one day, elk could again roam the Table Bluff prairies, Indian potato patches could grow as thick as grass, and iris beds and hazelnut orchards could blanket the hillsides. This is the opportunity to dream big and set our goals high for the eco-cultural restoration of our lands, and in turn, the restoration of the Wiyot people and culture.

To ensure integration and public involvement in the IRMP, the WNRD will be addressing the Wiyot Council in March to begin forming the IRMP Core Team. We will also be having a series of future public meetings and workshops throughout Wiyot Ancestral Territory as the planning process matures, to ensure that Wiyot citizens living off of the reservation have opportunities to contribute to the IRMP.

The WNRD will be posting a Resource Values and Interests survey on the Wiyot's website sometime in March. Please check the website for the resource survey sometime after March 12 at <http://www.wiyot.us/>. Additionally, any Tribal citizens who wish to be further involved with the IRMP process, please contact the WNRD at 707-733-5055 X122 or email at adam@wiyat.us.
