Save the date Wiyot Day is coming up August 25th we will be having stick tournament so if your young men ages 6yrs and up are interested in participating you can call the cultural department. The Cultural Department will be working with Tsek Hou-dagh on Cultural Activities and Regalia making on Monday's, Thursday's and Friday's. We would also like to let the community know that our community garden is up and going so far, we have bush beans, cabbage, zucchini, sugar snap peas so if you would like some let us know and we can gather it up for you.

Ráqhlaiyúwuk, commonly called the stick game, was traditionally played between representatives of different villages. On each side were three players armed with sticks (ráqhlaiyúwuhl, thrower) with a crooked end. Two pieces of heavy wood about three inches long were tied together near one end with a short piece of deerskin thong. In the middle of a two hundred-yard course two opposing players stood with their sticks. One held the missile (rakíhl) between his teeth. At the word of the umpire (luwílisihl) he dropped it, and each tried to toss it toward his opponent's goal. The other players stood in opposing pairs about halfway from the middle point to the goals, and each grasped the wrist of his opponent and held his stick between his teeth. As soon as the missile was dropped, and tossed, the pair in the center began to wrestle, and each man of the other two pairs grasped his stick in both hands, placed it behind his opponent's back, and endeavored to bend him backward to the ground so that he himself might escape and throw the missile toward the opposite goal. Any hold was allowed, but the stick could not be grasped by an opponent. When at last someone broke away from his antagonist and raced toward the missile and hurled it, his opponent leaped up and pursued him, and, if he succeeded in catching him, seized him by the waist or the leg or the neck and hurled him to the ground with all possible violence. Heavy wagers were laid.

. Taqúpluwúnu was the dice game of women. Two large discs of mussel-shell and two small ones were held in one hand, and the two hands were then clapped together and quickly thrown apart above a basketry tray, which was covered like a drum with a piece of deerskin. If the two large ones were matched, that is, if both showed the inside or both the outside of the shell, and the two small ones likewise matched, one point was made. The tally-sticks numbered fifty, and a single game sometimes lasted for several days. Many women looked on and posted wagers with one another, but only two played. When the players became weary, they would have two of the spectators try their luck. Between women of wealthy families the stakes were large.

Come Voice YOUR VISION for the Table Bluff Reservation at Wiyot Day! Contribute to the Table Bluff Integrated Resource Management Plan!

Greetings from the Wiyot Natural Resources Department (WNRD). In the last newsletter we discussed some preliminary results from our Integrated Resource Management Plan (IRMP) survey that was mailed out to all Wiyot citizens and provided online through Survey Monkey back in the spring. (Go to <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/T8MRGPY> to complete the survey if you haven't already!)

If you would like to voice your ideas for the Table Bluff Reservation (TBR) and the IRMP process, in person, you will have your opportunity at this year's Wiyot Day celebration on August 25th from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Please come to the WNRD table at the event and complete an updated interest survey or talk to WNRD staff about the future vision YOU want for Table Bluff's natural resources and future generations of Wiyots. We will also use this outreach opportunity to plan for our first IRMP scoping meeting, to happen this fall.

Table Bluff is an 88 acre jewel on the North Coast that serves as an eco-cultural landscape for the Wiyot people and provides ecological services to both Wiyot residents on the Reservation as well as those who live off the Reservation and want to re-connect with traditional cultural practices like berry picking. Ninety two percent of survey of respondents want areas protected on TBR from development and roads and set aside for eco-cultural uses and water quality. Other interests include a great desire to restore native plant communities and wild-foods like berries and Indian potatoes, as well as access to herbal medicinal and traditional cultural plants like wormwood (Artemisia douglasiana) hazelnut (Corylus cornuta ssp. californica), and vine tea (Clinopodium douglasii). How should we manage and use our large grassland now that cattle grazing is no longer permitted? Do we want a trail from TBR down to the bay for clamming? Should TBR have chickens and provide eggs to the elder and youth food programs? Should we grow more strawberries? These land uses and more are future visions for TBR. Come on out to Wiyot Days and VOICE YOUR VISION!

Save the Date August 27th & 28th, 2018

It's that time of year again to bring your Fire Extinguisher to have it serviced. There is no charge for this service you may drop it off any time but no later than 4pm on August 27th 2018.

1. Don't Know how to use a fire extinguisher properly?
2. Do you want to learn how to use a fire extinguisher?

If you answered yes to these two questions then come over for Free Fire Extinguisher Training it will be held at the Tribal Office August 28th, 2018 starting at 9:15am. If you have any questions please contact Jesse Public Works Director Interim 707-733-5055 or 707-601-4302.

"Quick-Check" - Is it Ready to Use?

1. Check the gauge
  - * The pressure indicator should be in the green zone. (CO2 extinguishers do not have pressure gauges)
2. The extinguisher should have a current inspection tag
3. The pin and handle should be secured with a plastic tab seal
4. The extinguisher and hose should be free of any visible damage

Not all fires are the same, and they are classified according to the type of fuel that is burning. If you use the wrong type of fire extinguisher on the wrong class of fire, you can, in fact, make matters worse. It is therefore very important to understand the four different fire classifications.
