Written records

John Sherman did not mention any major village at the mouth, but his first 5 or 6 settlements lie close to it and are perhaps to be construed as parts or suburbs of a major town, or as places to which the Indians moved after the cannery dispossessed them.

The following is Sherman's list, in order upstream, and with the number of houses in parentheses.

Ta-cugh-ach-tihl, at mouth. (Few houses; sand.)

Sha-câche-laug-k. (Few.)

Ma-quesch-klaukl. (2-3.)

Tla-saud-sauk. (2-3.)

← Lhi'lhatsaqh!!!

Gladt-me-schlick, Rabbit island; informant's family belonged here. (5-10.) By map, this might be Loud's AP, Wotsalik; or, by sound, Delat-pe-Lik, Loud's washed-out AQ.

Nomland, G., & Kroeber, A. (1936). Wiyot towns.
